Miss Rose Molleur Jumped Into the Shetucket River Above Ponemah Mills Saturday Afternoon and Committed Suicide-May Have Been Temporarily Insane.

A successful attempt at suicide was Miss Molleur. They at once notified arried out by Miss Rose Anna Mol-constable Reeves, who in turn summer of 47 Providence street Saturday carried out by Miss Rose Anna Molleur of 47 Providence street Saturday afternoon, when she drowned herself in the Shetucket river. Miss Molleur gave no intimation that she was going to take her life and her family knew nothing of it until notified by neighbors. She was employed as a weaver in No. 1 mill of the Ponemah company and went to work Saturday morning as usual, returning to her home at noontime. Late in the afternoon she dressed herself in street attire and about 5.30 o'clock left her home without saying where she was going, it being thought by her family that she was bound for Norwich or for some of the stores in the village. Walking up Riverside road and turning off the road down to the edge of the water at a joint about 1-4 mile north of the Ponemah mills, she put her coat and hat on the bank and jumped into the water.

Anthony and John Wunderlich, who were on their way home, heard a surging sound. leur of 47 Providence street Saturday

CHRISTMAS SUNDAY

Observed at Methodist Church-Sermon on The Unspeakable Gift . At the First Methodist church Sun-At the First Methodist church Sunday were effective decorations in red and green wreaths and a cross of evergreen, and small Christmas trees were arranged about the audience room. Rev. M. R. French took for the subject of the morning address The Unspeakable Gift. The points made were: The motive in giving; God's motive in giving the Christ, and the preciousness of the unspeakable gift. The musical programme was much The musical programme was much enjoyed by those present, the anthem and songs being in harmony with the spirit of Christmas. The cantata, Night brightened with the red of many blossoms.

In the programme of music, The First Christmas Morn, by Newton, was beautifully rendered by the choir, the solo parts being especially enjoyed the harmonious blending of tenor and bass being effective in bringing out the beauty of the anthem. The spirited singing of the hymns and the rendering of the anthems, both morning and evening, showed special preparation.

The subject of the morning serman was Unjil Christ Be Formed in You, In introducing this topic Rev Mr. Ewing gave a summary of all that makes children happy at Christmas, of the bleesings that come to all through the love of Christ, and spoke of the transformation that the spirit of Christmas makes in character, the good cheer and love shown at this season of the year banishes care and gloom and rouses our better nature.

The central thought of the discourse which followed was God in Christ and Christ in you. St. Paul in writing these words gave utterance to his strong desire that Christ-filled disciples should show forth their Master to the world about them. To have for ourseives the indwelling Christ we must cultivate the fruits of the spirit must get into companionship with Jesus.

must cultivate the fruits of the spirit, must get into companionship with Jesus.

That the spirit of Christ may pervade society, the Christian should stand for the right, attacking all forms of wickedness that flourish about us. The time is at hand when Christ shall see of the travail of His soul and be satisfied. The life that knows Christ shall keep eternal Christmas in the heart.

Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY SERVICE. George W. Guard Spoke on the Fath-erhood of God Before Good Aud-

The speaker at the Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. was George W. Guard, whose topic was the Fatherhood of God. A picasing pragramma was given by Swahn's orchestra. The Birth of Christ was effectively rendered by Mrs. William G. Haselden, accompanied by Frank Benson, violin and Miss Ella Potter, piano, Mrs. Haselden also randered Christmas.

From the beginning of time, said Mr. Guard, man has reached out for things of joy and often has sought joy through sin. It makes all the difference in the world how we get joy. joy through sin. It makes all the dif-ference in the world how we get joy. Whether it is the passing pleasure of sin, or the real joy which fadein not away. When Christ taught us to pray he said for us to say Our Father. What real joy we feel in calling God, our father; the God who made the universe and set the worlds moving! Our human mind must form an idea of God out of our surroundings and thus perhaps we see Him as The musical programme was much enjoyed by those present, the anthem and songs being in harmony with the spirit of Christmas. The cantata, Night in the Orient, which was to have been given in the evening, was postponed one week.

First Congregational Church.

The audience room of the First Congregational church Sunday was beautiful with evergreens and poinsectia. The Christmas decorations of ground pine were twined around the piliars, and overhanging the organ, from which depended red bells. Smail trees were on either side of the pulpit, while in front pine and laurel were massed.

evidence that the world is not the final home of man.

The coming of Christ made communion with God a reality as it had never been before, so that whosever will may call God, the father. Christ tells us that we are His brethren if he do His will and have a right to call upon the Father in our troubles. Many, no matter how surrounded by family and friends, stands alone from the cradle to the grave in his relation to God, and to himself. The most beautiful thought to me of all Christ's teachings is God's fatherhood to man.
